STORY: The story of COSMOPHONICA is dealing with the time in billions of years, when there will be no more lightning stars in our universe and anything became a dark and boring cold place. Long time before, black holes fed of the last material around and galaxies are drifting aimlessly away in the unending cavity of space. What will happen at that time of dark solitude? Will anything end in a big rip or big crunch? Or will anything be merged into something new? What will happen to our immortal souls? Will scientists fathom that miracle of our being one time? Many questions, but there are no answer. All we can do is to live our precious time on earth as good as we can. COSMOPHONICA is an intelligent but highly entertaining electronic opus depending to this dark future scenario. Hope, loneliness, euphoria, reflectiveness, longing and fun are emotions to describe the music on this conceptualbum. Listen carefully to it and find Your own emotions, enjoying this very special trip to the last days of our future
